CHAMBERLAIN WARNS OF WAR DANGER

France Promises Czechoslovakia Military Support

New Blum Government Says Aid Forthcoming If Nazis Extend Coup

Ministry Maps Strong Policy

PARIS (AP)—The day-old French government today reassured Czechoslovakia that France would take military action as she has promised in the Franco-Czech treaty if the Nazis tried to extend their Austrian coup to the neighboring republic.

Premier Leon Blum and Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour pointedly summoned Stefan Osusky, Czech minister, to the Matignon Palace, the Premier's residence, instead of to the Foreign Office, to give him this assurance.

FIGHTING PLANES
French plans for giving military aid to Czechoslovakia, according to military journals at the time the treaty of mutual assistance was made, consist in sending French fighting and bombing planes to Czech bases and at the same time sending troops into southern Germany.

Faced by the Austrian crisis, Socialist Leon Blum had hastily formed a People's Front government to replace the fallen Chamberlain ministry and prepared for action through diplomacy, propaganda, and if necessary with force.

Accepting German absorption of Austria as past and done with, the new government mapped these steps to check any new encroachment in central Europe by Hitler.

1. An understanding was sought with Britain, said an informant closely connected with the government, that the two democracies "tolerate no more violations of European order."

2. The mutual assistance treaty with Czechoslovakia would be revised to provide military action against Germany, even (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

Hiye Maru Bomb Trial Is Started

SEATTLE (AP)—The Hiye Maru bombing case went to trial in Superior Judge Hugh Todd's court here today.

George Partridge, 22, Vancouver, B.C., carpenter's helper, was charged with possessing and transporting explosives illegally, after his arrest January 19, when the body of a companion, Rolphe Forsyth, former Vancouver school teacher, was found in Elliott Bay. A suitcase "infernal machine" was found lodged near the Japanese ship. Other dynamite was recovered at Tacoma.

THE WEATHER

VICTORIA, 8 a.m. today—A storm centered north of Queen Charlotte Islands is causing snow and sleet on the north coast and rain with gusts off Vancouver Island. Light showers have occurred in the British Columbia interior. The weather is cooler in the north, but it remains mild in the south and in the prairie provinces.

CAR DROPS 20 FEET TO ROCKS

Paul Pepin Has Miraculous Escape When Machine Goes Through Barrier

Paul Pepin, 2627 Fifth Street, miraculously escaped injury early yesterday morning when the car he was driving plunged through a barrier at the end of Hollywood Place in Foul Bay and dropped 20 feet onto the rocky shoreline of Ross Bay.

Police reported Pepin escaped without injury but the car was driving, owned by D. Buckle, Douglas Street, was considerably damaged. No glass in the car was broken.

Mrs. Charles Frankham, 507 Head Street, Esquimalt, suffered a head injury when she was thrown from her husband's car in an accident at Johnson and Government Streets Saturday night at 6.25, according to a police report.

Mr. Frankham's car was in collision with a car driven by Stanley Auchincloss, Duncan, and the impact threw Mrs. Frankham out.

A car owned by J. B. Taylor, 2617 Fernwood Road, was turned over but there were no personal injuries in another accident Saturday night at 6 at the corner of Bay Street and Cook Street. Mr. Taylor's car was in collision with a machine driven by A. H. Napier, 2727 Quadra Street. Both cars were reported damaged.

Southeast Storm Now Moderating

A real March storm swept over Victoria last night and this morning, bringing gusts of wind and rain squalls, with intermittent sunshine.

There were signs of moderation this afternoon, a report from the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill said.

The wind reached a maximum velocity of 28 miles from the southeast at 9 this morning. About 20 of an inch of rain fell overnight.

Seas were breaking over the rocks and the seawalls along the waterfront this morning and the water was covered with whitecaps which sent small fishing boats scurrying to shelter.

Along the exposed West Coast of Vancouver Island a severe storm was raging and all wireless stations reported rain and wind, with seas pounding against the shore, sending spray high into the air.

The present storm is centered off the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Schuschnigg's Last Diet Speech

Kurt von Schuschnigg (standing on the rostrum at the left) still was Chancellor of Austria when the above picture was taken. It was his last speech to the Diet. Now he is under arrest and Austria has no Diet. Arthur Seyss-Inquart is head of the government, but he was not elected as Schuschnigg; he was appointed by Hitler. Indicating how swiftly events have moved, it is now recalled that the main point of Schuschnigg's last address to the Diet was a declaration that Austria had not been engulfed by Germany.

European Moneys Slump In Markets On This Continent

New York Ses French Franc at Lowest in 11 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—European currencies tumbled on foreign exchange markets today as "refugee" money from the continent fled into dollars and, to some extent, into the pound sterling.

On the stock market here prices pushed higher, especially steel, aircraft, rubber, coppers and other stocks that might be expected to benefit from heavier armament programs.

The French franc was at its lowest level in 11 years, reflecting a heavy flight of funds from Paris. The pound sterling broke to a new level for the year. The Swiss franc, Belgian belga and Netherlands guilder continued their decline of Saturday.

ALEXIS MARTIN RESIGNS POST

Deputy Magistrate in Victoria Quits on Account of Ill-health

Alexis Martin, veteran Victoria barrister, who for years has acted as magistrate on the police court bench when the regular magistrate was away, has resigned his post due to ill-health, it was announced by Attorney-General Gordon Wismer today.

Mr. Martin held commissions as police magistrate in Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, as stipendiary magistrate in the county and judge of the juvenile court and small debts court.

Mr. Wismer said a successor will be named shortly.

In other parts of the province today the government named A. G. Freeze to be stipendiary magistrate at Merritt, Roy W. Cinn of Kuper Island to be stipendiary magistrate in the counties of Victoria and Nanaimo, and Allie L. Nickerson of Agassiz to act as stipendiary magistrate until April 30.

RESTRAINT IN BRITAIN URGED

Labor and Liberal Leaders Tell House League Still Best Course

LONDON (CP)—The need for utmost restraint because "we are face to face with events" was recognized in the House of Commons today by Rt. Hon. Clement Attlee, leader of the opposition, who spoke after Prime Minister Chamberlain in the foreign affairs debate.

"It seems to me this event knocks down the house of cards on which the Premier has been building," the Labor leader declared. "The late Foreign Secretary (Anthony Eden) is shown to be right. Each successive incident of bad faith and breach of treaty and each successful aggression leads to another."

Mr. Attlee believed the government should ask for a meeting of the Assembly of the League of Nations and that the British Government should take the lead in taking means of preventing further lawlessness. If nothing were done the incident might be followed by others and sooner or later a stand would have to be made.

"It is only on moral principles that you can rally the world against aggression," the Labor leader went on. "Only by an appeal for the rule of law in the world can you rally the Dominions and the United States."

LIBERAL LEADER
Sir Archibald Sinclair, Liberal leader, also hoped for tolerant speeches and restraint, as the (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

Safecrackers At Work in Nanaimo

NANAIMO — Safecrackers blasted the office safe at the Canadian Window Bakeseries here yesterday and escaped with $370.

British Columbia police, investigating, said it was the work of experts. Just enough nitro-glycerine was used to open the door of the strong box, they said. The office was undamaged by the blast.

A widespread search of this section of Vancouver Island was organized. Police worked on the theory that the thieves may have been from the mainland.

Meanwhile in Vancouver early today a safe, containing a small amount of cash, was stolen from another office of the Canadian Window Bakeseries. Police believed it was the work of four youths.

Estimates of the shortages in the Whitney firm, which represented J. P. Morgan & Co. in many transactions, have run as high as $1,000,000.

Chamberlain, Addressing Commons, Voices "Severest Condemnation" of Germany's Seizure of Austria; Crowds in Streets of Vienna When Hitler Enters City Estimated at 1,000,000; Much Shouting and Flag-waving; No One Can Shatter Reich Now, Says Fuehrer

Hitler Tomorrow Will Speak Again

VIENNA (AP)—Adolf Hitler came in triumph to Vienna today and to a frenzied throng that greeted him declared:

"No force on earth can shake us!"

Fully a million shouting, flag-waving Viennese greeted the Fuehrer as he rode into the capital of the German state he has absorbed into his expanded German Reich.

To more than 100,000 hysterical followers thronging the square before his hotel, he shouted:

"The German Reich as it stands today is inviolable; no one can shatter it!"

Hitler apparently had no intention to speak until tomorrow, when at 11 a.m. he will address Vienna and the German Reich from the Heroes' Square.

But the crowd that called him again and again to the balcony of his hotel suite would not be denied.

FULL OF EMOTION
"German compatriots," he began his impromptu speech, "I have felt in the last few days all the emotions which now stir you."

"This has been an historical change and the entire German people feel your emotions."

"Not 2,000,000 people in one city, but 75,000,000 people in one nation are stirred to the depths of feeling which you now are demonstrating."

"I am deeply stirred by this historic change."

"You all live up to your oath, all of you from Koenigsburg to Hamburg and down to Vienna. You do so in deepest devotion."

STANDS IN MOTORCAR
Hitler entered the city limits at 4.50 p.m. (7.50 a.m., P.S.T.). He rode standing in an open automobile through 6 1/2 miles of the streets of the old Austrian capital.

NO PADLOCK LAW IN B.C.

Never Thought of, Says Attorney-General on Calder Statement

VANCOUVER (CP)—If the Quebec "padlock law" wins in the courts British Columbia will have it in six months, R. L. Calder, K.C., Montreal lawyer and president of the Civil Liberties Union told a mass meeting here.

He declared the act "shatters the cornerstone of British liberty."

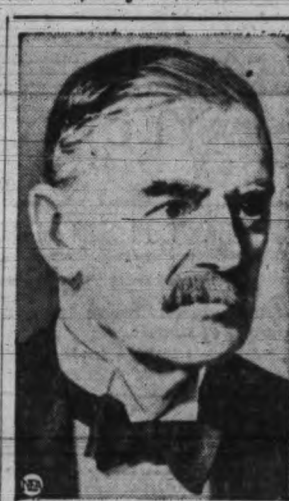

"I am a Conservative and a Roman Catholic," he said, "I supported Duplessis in 1935 and 1936. What I am doing now is assuring forgiveness for my sin. I owe it to my self-respect to do my level best to boot him out of Canadian politics."

Calder said the act was aimed at Communist propaganda, but that it made no attempt to define a meaning of the word Communist.

"Do you know what the word Communist means in Canada today?" he asked. "It means a man who doesn't think the same as you do."

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer said today the idea of a padlock law in British Columbia had never been thought of by the government. He believed the Quebec law should be disallowed.

Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, speaking to Vancouver Young Liberals last week, declared: "Only a subversive people would tolerate the padlock law of Quebec."

Hungarian Nazis Talk With Hitler

Several Leaders Travel to Vienna; Proposals Not Made Public

BUDAPEST (AP)—Count Ernst Sotestics and a number of other Hungarian Nazi leaders went to Vienna today to confer with Chancellor Hitler.

Their trip aroused speculation as to whether it was merely a friendly call or whether they intended to ask the German Chancellor to return the province of Burgenland to Hungary in return for a German-Hungarian military and economic alliance.

That province was ceded to Austria in treaties rebuilding central Europe after the Great War.

Japanese Stalled On Fronts In China

Invaders Held; Troops Which Cut Lunghai Railway Wiped Out

SHANGHAI (AP)—The Japanese invaders were stalled on all of China's far-flung war fronts today.

Shock troops which crossed the Yellow River 20 miles west of Chengchow last week and disrupted service over the Lunghai railway, apparently have been wiped out or driven back.

Traffic has been resumed over the vital central China line, and Chinese troops, stubbornly fighting all along the Yellow River front, have succeeded in preventing further Japanese advances.

Japanese warships on the Yangtze River above Wuhu tried to break the deadlock in that area by shelling Kluhsien and Tikiang, but Chinese guerrilla tactics blocked Japanese ground operations.

No New British Pledge to Czechs

LONDON (CP and AP)—Great Britain's blunt reply to Germany will be to speed up her vast program of armaments.

However, Prime Minister Chamberlain, in a vital statement of policy today before a House of Commons packed and tense, did not promise British backing to France if she should go to war to save Czechoslovakia from Pan-Germanism.

Mr. Chamberlain said Czechoslovakia had been in consultation with Great Britain, but he refused to discuss what Britain would do to guard the central European republic for whose 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans Hitler has proclaimed himself protector.

The Prime Minister expressed "severe condemnation" of Germany's step in Austria, and admitted that in it lay new danger to European peace, but pleaded for "cool judgment."

REJECTS REICH REPLY
Mr. Chamberlain bluntly rejected a German statement that Britain had no right to interest herself in Austrian independence, the German answer to British protests over the annexation.

He insisted Britain "must always be interested in developments in central Europe."

Great Britain and Austria were members of the League of Nations, he said. Both were signatories, as was Germany, of the treaties which provided for the independence of Austria, inalienable except with the consent of the League Council.

Quite apart from treaties, Britain had always been, and must be, interested in developments in central Europe, especially in such events as those which had taken place during the last few days.

POLICY OF SECURITY
The object of the government's policy, he said, was to stimulate a sense of security and confidence. This policy must inevitably be helped or hindered by events in central Europe.

Baron Konstantin von Neurath, head of Germany's new secret council, had written that "the British Government is not within its rights in claiming the role of protector of Austria."

ARMAMENT REVIEW
Mr. Chamberlain announced an immediate review of the rearmament program.

ALIEN INQUIRY BOARD NAMED

Federal Commission For B.C. Will Meet in Vancouver March 21

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister King announced today membership of the board of review to receive and investigate allegations of illegal entry of aliens into Canada. The board will meet for organization March 21 in Vancouver.

Members are: Dr. L. H. Keenleyside, Department of External Affairs, chairman; F. W. Taylor, District Superintendent of Immigration, Vancouver; Inspector G. W. Fish, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Vancouver.

The information was given in answer to questions placed on the order paper by Hon. Grote Stirling, Conservative, Yale. One question asked the number of Japanese deported for illegal entry since 1930. The figures given by Mr. King follow: 1930, 4; 1931, 7; 1932, 59; 1933, 26; 1934, 17; 1935, 10; 1936, 13; 1937, 9.

HITLER TOMORROW WILL SPEAK AGAIN

Behind his slow-moving automobile was another car carrying Heinrich Himmler, chief of all German police, and other high officials of the Reich.

Church bells pealed for a quarter hour from the time he crossed the city limits.

Coming from Huetfeldorf, his car entered the main part of the city through Marienhof Street to the Ring, where he entered the Imperial Hotel.

A hundred thousand persons around the hotel roared and demanded his appearance on the balcony of his suite.

ROYAL PROGRESS

The frenzied welcome to Vienna was the climax of a 100-mile ride from Linz, where Hitler had remained since his arrival in Austria Saturday.

The journey was like a royal progress. In front of the Imperial Hotel, men, women and children wept and kissed each other, giving free rein to their emotions.

Enthusiasm of the crowds far surpassed that of early Nazi days in Berlin.

Officers with Hitler said never had they seen such an unbounded release of joy.

On the edge of the city Hitler stopped his automobile and shook hands with everyone who could get near enough. He saluted and tactfully used the Austrian greeting, "Gruess Gott," instead of the Prussian "Guten Tag."

All classes of the population were in the streets along his route. Other parts of the city were deserted. In chorus the people shouted—just as in Berlin, "We want our Fuehrer!"

"Nothing like this ever happened in Munich or Berlin—nothing like it ever happened anywhere," declared the official announcer.

Deeply moved himself, Hitler at times appeared so filled with gratitude he could not speak.

An Austrian government of his choice had prepared for his coming by announcing the absorption of Austria into the German nation, now stretching from the North Sea almost to the Adriatic.

PRESIDENT RESIGNS

The last vestige of the old regime disappeared with the resignation of President Wilhelm Miklas Sunday.

Today the Austrian-born Adolf Hitler acknowledged a conqueror's welcome.

He left Vienna a poor student-laborer 20-odd years ago to fight upward to become Germany's ruler. He came to the ancient Hapsburg capital today as leader of both Germany and Austria, made one.

Brief legal steps ended the sovereignty of ancient Austria Sunday. President Miklas, who had opposed Nazification of his country, quit. Then Nazi Chancellor Arthur Seyss-Inquart took charge under an emergency clause of the constitution.

He thereupon decreed legislation by which Austria ceased to exist. Through the streets the populace surged in wild celebration—Seyss-Inquart signed decrees as "Minister and President," instead of Chancellor, indicating he would have the same status as the Premier of Prussia or Bavaria.

Germany some seven centuries ago was ruled from Vienna, but never before has Vienna been ruled from Berlin. Bismarck tried it and provoked the Austro-Prussian war of 1866.

Today's newspapers, including those formerly bitter against the Nazis, appeared with large swastikas on their mastheads.

CATHOLICS WATCH

Jews and Catholics eagerly awaited a clear-cut expression as to whether the official attitude toward them will be restrictive as in Germany. Austria is 90 per cent Catholic. With the 1918 founded republic gone, the Austrian concordat, like other Austrian treaties, becomes ineffective unless the Berlin government wishes to assume such obligations.

Germany has her own concordat and this likely now will apply in Austria.

Sunday in Vienna was hectic. Masses of shouting, singing, flag-waving Viennese milled and marched through the inner ring of streets, saluting and yelling the Nazi call: "Sieg Heil!" (hall, victory!)

JEWIS HYSTERICAL

Hysteria swept Vienna Jewish hundreds of fearful Jews lined up before the Polish and other consulates to ask visas to enable them to leave the country.

Jewish druggists were told their medical supplies might be needed by hospitals. Some voluntarily emptied their shelves and donated their goods.

A number of Vienna coffee houses were placarded with warnings on doors and windows: "Jews not permitted to enter."

The postoffice announced every parcel intended for foreign countries would be opened and searched to prevent smuggling of money from the country.

AUSTRIA NOW PROVINCE

Nazis today were weaving Austria and her 7,000,000 inhabitants into the Nazi Reich, as just another province like those which now form Germany.

Throughout the country new officials took charge, and new organizations parallel to those in Germany sprang up.

The purge of public offices and newspapers which began Sunday was almost over today.

Hundreds of Austrians, who on Saturday were upstanding public officials, now are either behind bars or under house arrest.

Schuschnigg, at first reported to have fled the country, still was in his Belvedere Castle early today, heavily guarded.

An automobile, bearing a foreign license, was confiscated by guards when it pulled up to the castle. The guards evidently suspected the ousted chancellor was trying to get away.

Miklas, forced to resign, was reported unmolested in his home, but with his movements restricted.

A combined drive by all three insurgent armies on the eastern front pressed the government line back to within 20 miles of the southern border of Tarazona province and to within 10 miles of Masen Raimundo, where principal highways run toward the coast.

BIGGEST ATTACK

Government dispatches confirmed Franco's reports of a major advance in what probably was the greatest offensive of the 29-month-old civil war.

Official reports from Salamanca, insurgent capital, said the government had numbered many thousands after five days of the lower Aragon push. Franco's own men suffered heavy losses.

MONARCHIST IN VIENNA SHOT

Von Werkman Dying From Bullets Fired While Nazi Troopers Beside Him

VIENNA (AP)—Baron Karl von Werkman, Emperor Karl's last secretary, prominent leader of the now liquidated monarchist movement, was reported today to be dying of bullet wounds. The baron had been confined in monarchist headquarters under heavy guard since Friday.

When S.S. (blackshirt) Nazi troops called today to take him to their headquarters for questioning, an S.S. source said, Baron von Werkman drew a pistol and threatened his captors. One account said he shot himself. He suffered severe wounds in the abdomen and thigh.

The baron's last article in a monarchist weekly pleaded "We want to live our own lives," expressed loyalty to the now deposed Chancellor, Kurt von Schuschnigg, and outlined the monarchists' uphill fight for placing Archduke Otto, eldest son of the dead Emperor Karl, on the Austrian throne.

SEIZING PROPERTIES

That hope is now gone. Properties belonging to the Hapsburgs, recently returned to them by the Schuschnigg government, are expected to be reconfiscated for use by Hitler's youth as homes and training camps.

The property of Frau Engelbert Dollfuss, widow of the chancellor slain in the 1934 Nazi putsch, has been confiscated. No aristocrat, but a simple peasant, her small estate near Schaefering was a gift of the government. She and her children were able to flee to Hungary.

Capone Must Go To Chicago Jail

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alphonse Capone, former Chicago gang leader, failed in the United States Supreme Court today in his effort to escape serving a one-year term in the Cook County jail at the expiration of a 10-year sentence he now is serving at Alcatraz.

The high court refused to interfere with a judgment against Capone by the seventh circuit court of appeals.

Allowing time off for good behavior, the sentence Capone is now serving at Alcatraz will expire January 19, 1939. He became eligible for parole September 3, 1935, but his application was denied.

CONSCRIPTION HINT IS SEEN

No Official Explanation Given For Remark By Chamberlain

LONDON (CP)—A possible hint that the British government may be considering some form of conscription was dropped by Prime Minister Chamberlain in the House of Commons today while he was reviewing the international situation in light of Germany's absorption of Austria.

"We must consider the new situation clearly but with cool judgment," he said, "and with confidence that we shall be supported in asking that no one, whatever his particular preconceived notions may be, shall regard himself as excluded from any extension of national efforts that may be called for."

The Commons cheered the statement.

An official interpretation of the full meaning of the Prime Minister's words was not forthcoming immediately. But it was recalled some influential Conservatives have been demanding some sort of compulsory national service similar to that enforced in Germany and Italy.

It also was recalled Mr. Chamberlain only recently had reaffirmed the pledge of his predecessor, Stanley Baldwin, against conscription in peacetime.

In an editorial today, The Times of London spoke of "compulsory organization" in recommending "fresh support for the movement for more rapid, effective and even compulsory organization of the people of these islands for civilian service of the type demanded by modern dangers, particularly that of panic caused by sudden air raids."

NO NEW BRITISH PLEDGE TO CZECHS

"We have always made it clear that our defense programs were flexible and that they would be reviewed at any time in the light of any development in the international situation," he said.

"It would be idle to pretend that recent events do not constitute a change of the kind we had in mind."

"Accordingly we have decided to make a fresh review. In due course we shall announce what further steps we may find it necessary to take."

HOUSE SILENT

The packed House was the quietest in many months. Only rarely was the Prime Minister interrupted as he read his speech from notes spread on a table before him.

Once, when a Labor member's laugh rang out hollowly, his own colleagues hushed him.

The diplomatic gallery was jammed for the historic sitting. From there Charles Corbin, French ambassador, and Jan Garrigue Masaryk, Czech minister, listened intently to the Prime Minister.

His supporters cheered Mr. Chamberlain loudly when he arrived, at the beginning of the afternoon sitting from Buckingham Palace after luncheon with the King.

One Labor member, however, shouted: "What are the cheers for? It's a great disaster!"

Mr. Chamberlain disclosed Field Marshal Hermann Goering, Germany's No. 2 leader, had assured the Czech troops in Berlin that German troops marching into Austria had been given "strictest orders to keep 15 kilometers (9 1/2 miles) from the Czech frontier."

He described the attitude of Czechoslovakia as a matter of general interest, and cited the repeated assurance by Germany to Czechoslovakia that Germany desired the best possible relations with Czechoslovakia.

Mr. Chamberlain proceeded, saying, Great Britain was not under commitment to take action vis-a-vis Austria, but she was under obligations to consult both with the French and Italian governments. The French government had made a protest to Berlin similar to that of Britain.

THRUST AT ITALY

The Prime Minister made an apparent thrust at Italy for her silence when asked to join the Anglo-French protests.

"From the Italian government," he said, "we have received no full exposition of their views."

"What has passed," he admitted at another point, "cannot fail to have prejudiced the hope of His Majesty's government of removing misunderstanding between nations."

"The immediate results must be to intensify the sense of uncertainty and insecurity in Europe."

Unfortunately the policy of appeasement which would have helped to relax economic pressure must inevitably be retarded. Indeed, the Prime Minister gravely added, increased care will be required to see that marked deterioration does not set in. This was not a moment for hasty decisions or careless words. The new situation must be considered calmly with cool judgment.

SHARP GERMAN REPLY

The Prime Minister disclosed for the first time that Germany had replied sharply to grave British protests over the absorption of Austria.

Von Neurath's letter to Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador at Berlin, said:

"The German government has never left the British Government in doubt that the form of relations between the Reich and Austria can only be regarded as an internal affair of the German people which is no concern of third powers."

"The German government must from the outset reject as inadmissible the protest lodged by the British Government, even though only conditional."

To cheers Mr. Chamberlain asserted:

"The methods adopted through these tense events call for the severest condemnation and have administered a profound shock to all who are interested in the preservation of European peace."

DEFENCE PROGRAM

Mr. Chamberlain said "the defense program will be reviewed in the light of the new circumstances"—a virtual announcement that the nation's £1,500,000,000 ($7,500,000,000) rearmament drive would be expanded even further.

"These events cannot be regarded by His Majesty's government with indifference," the Prime Minister said, referring to Hitler's swift coup in Austria.

"They are bound to have effects which cannot yet be measured. We must consider the new situation quickly, but with full judgment."

"It is untrue to suggest that we ever gave Germany our consent or encouragement to enforce the absorption of Austria into the German Reich."

"The hard fact is that nothing could have arrested this action by Germany unless we and others with us had been prepared to use force to prevent it."

"Accordingly we have decided to make fresh reviews and in due course we shall announce what further steps we may think it necessary to take."

Mr. Chamberlain concluded amid cheers.

Opposition Leader Clement Attlee followed Mr. Chamberlain, launching a full-dress debate on foreign affairs.

A statement similar to Mr. Chamberlain's was made in the House of Lords by Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary.

Italians Study Austria Move

People Bewildered By Change in Fascist Policy Over Germans on Border

ROME (AP)—Italians, swerved by a controlled press from a stand for independent Austria to endorsement of Austro-German union, seemed bewildered today by the sudden turn of events.

Even since the Great War they had learned to think of an independent Austria as essential to the safety of Italy's frontiers.

Overnight they have seen the idea disavowed. The long-dreaded union of Austria and Germany now is set forth as the necessity which Italy approves.

Confronted with this, many Italians privately confessed their bewilderment.

"Why did we fight the war?" some of them are asking.

There was uneasy speculation also in informed political circles, although they were somewhat reassured by Chancellor Hitler's declaration that the Brenner Pass marks the southern boundary of Pan-Germanism. The Brenner Pass is Austria's gateway into Italy.

TALES WITH BRITAIN

Successful conclusion of current Italian-British conversations might open the way, they added, for Italian collaboration to check to enthusiastic steps into central Europe toward Pan-Germanism.

Premier Mussolini gave Chancellor Hitler his personal assurance of Italian friendship.

In a telegram to Hitler at Vienna, the Duce declared "my attitude is determined by the friendship between our two countries consecrated in the (Rome-Berlin) axis."

Mussolini's communication was in reply to Hitler's earlier message, which said he would "never forget" the Premier's attitude toward his annexation of Austria.

Social Crediters Plan Extension

Candidates to Share in Next Saskatchewan Election, Says Aberhart

CALGARY (CP)—Entry of Social Credit candidates in the next provincial election in Saskatchewan was indicated by Premier William Aberhart speaking at the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute Sunday.

"I am told Social Credit is sweeping the province of Saskatchewan like a prairie fire," he told his audience. "There will be an interesting fight next June when the provincial election takes place."

Cyril Hutchinson, institute secretary, read a letter from division No. 5 of the Saskatchewan Social Credit League at Kindersley. It said:

"During the past few months due to the campaign of lies and slander carried on by the old line parties in Alberta, thousands more of Saskatchewan citizens are swelling the ranks of the Social Credit movement."

Premier Aberhart urged there be "no breaks in our ranks."

"We are in a real struggle. The fight for economic freedom is on," said the Premier. "Our message to all who realize the importance of the present situation is 'stand pat.'"

CLARENCE DARROW Dies in Chicago

Criminal Lawyer, Champion of "Underdog," Passes in 81st Year

CHICAGO (AP)—Clarence S. Darrow, who rose from a $30 a month country school teacher to the United States' most famous "attorney for the defence," is dead.

The noted lawyer-philosopher succumbed at his home here Sunday in his 81st year, after a long illness with a heart ailment. With him at the end were his wife, Ruby, his son, Paul, and a sister, Mrs. Jennie Darrow Moore. Funeral arrangements were being completed today.

FOR THE DEFENCE

The master pleader for the defence in a long list of criminal cases, including that of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, the "thrill slayers" of little Bobby Franks in Chicago more than a decade ago, had been confined to his bed for the last two months.

The defender of the late Eugene V. Debs, Socialist leader, who had been accused of conspiring during the United States railway strike in 1894; of John T. Scopes, defendant in the famous "Tennessee monkey trial," and of many others whom Darrow considered as "unfortunates," had been in retirement five years, but he never lost his interest in world affairs, nor in the cause of the underdog.

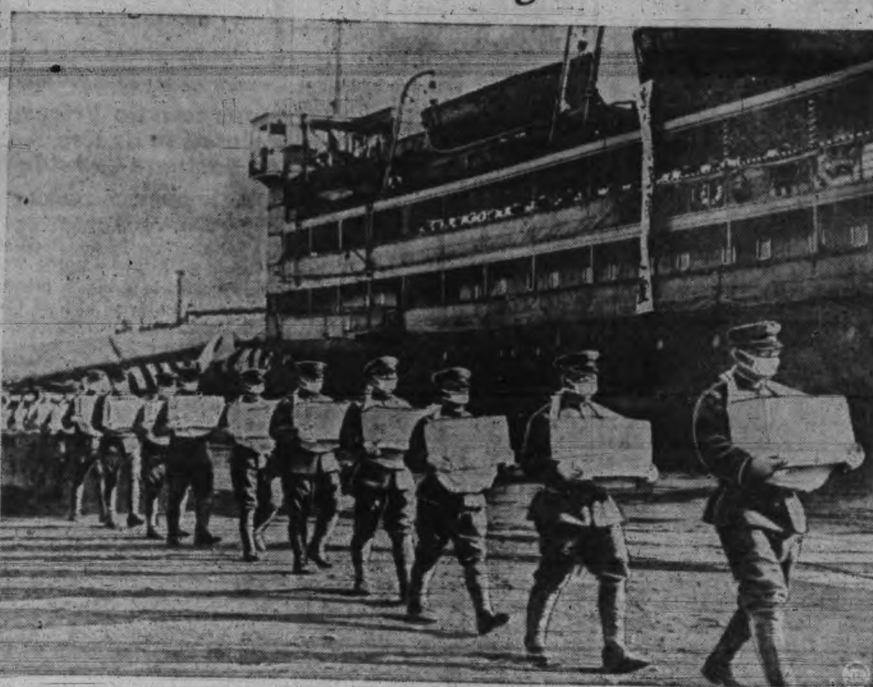

DENOUNCED CRUELITIES

Less than a year ago he gave out a brief outline of his philosophy, in which he declared the greatest satisfaction he had got out of life had been "my efforts in behalf of unfortunates," and that his hardest task had been "trying my hardest to help overcome the cruelties of the world." Years before that he said: "I've fought all my life for the underdog."

Mr. Darrow was an agnostic. When asked what his attitude toward religion was he said:

"I am an agnostic because I am not afraid to think. I am not afraid of any God in the universe who would send me or any other man or woman to hell. If there were such a being, he would not be a god; he would be a devil."

MASSIE TRIAL

His last big case was the trial in Honolulu of Lieut. Thomas Massie of the United States navy and three others who were convicted of manslaughter in the death of a native. Their 10-year sentences were commuted to one hour in custody.

Back in the United States, he was prevailed on to come out of retirement to appeal the case of Russell McWilliams, Rockford, Ill., boy slayer who was twice sentenced to die. After the verdict was upheld Darrow went before the pardon board to plead for leniency. The youth's sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

The famed attorney was perhaps best known for his defence of Leopold and Loeb, whose lives he was credited with saving. They were sentenced to life on one charge, plus 99 years on a second, with a recommendation that neither be paroled. When Loeb was hacked to death with a razor by a youthful fellow convict, James Day, in January, 1936, Darrow said:

"He (Loeb) is better off than Leopold—better off dead."

Asked why he had pleaded for the lives of Loeb and Leopold if he deemed death preferable, Mr. Darrow said:

"I had no right to trifle with the lives of those boys. They wanted to live. My duty was to help them to do so."

BORN IN OHIO

Mr. Darrow's philosophy had its roots in his father, Amos Darrow, once a student for the ministry, later the village infidel, a cabinet maker, dreamer and devotee of Voltaire and Paine, in Kinsman, O., where Clarence Seward Darrow was born April 18, 1857. His mother, Emily Eddy Darrow, daughter of a prosperous farmer, died when Clarence was a child and he spent his boyhood on a farm. There he nurtured back to health a hen which had been injured on the road, only to see it killed for the dinner table. Clarence refused to eat and never touched chicken meat again.

At 17 he entered Allegheny College and in 1875, when he was only 18, was admitted to the bar. He taught a year, studied another at the University of Michigan, and in 1877 opened a law office in Ashtabula, O.

There, in 1879, Darrow married Miss Jessie, Ohio. They were divorced quietly in 1897, and in 1905, the attorney married Miss Ruby Hamerstrom of Galesburg, Ill., who was a news reporter in Chicago. By the first marriage there was one son, Paul.

DR. BETHUNE IS IN SIAN

Montreal Surgeon Is Establishing Medical Unit in North China.

HANKOW, China (CP-Havas)—Dr. Norman Bethune, 48-year-old Montreal surgeon missing in the Shensi war zone for two weeks, is in Sian, the provincial capital, where he is directing an army medical mission, according to Chinese.

A spokesman for Communist Eighth Route Army announced Sunday that on March 2 he had received a telegram from Dr. Bethune explaining the mission had been established in Sian and was awaiting large orders of medical supplies due to arrive shortly from Hongkong.

The Canadian doctor and Miss Jane Ewen, a nurse from Vancouver, left Hankow three weeks ago.

Dr. Bethune arrived in Hankow February 7 as a member of the China Aid Council's medical unit. This is the third war in which he has served as a surgeon, having gone through the Great War in that capacity and more recently working for the Spanish government.

While in Madrid Dr. Bethune instituted a highly successful blood transfusion service.

Police Fight London Crowd

Demonstrators on Trafalgar Square Shout For Chamberlain's Resignation

LONDON (CP-Havas)—Demonstrators paraded past the German embassy here Sunday night, shouting for the resignation of Prime Minister Chamberlain.

Thirty policemen on foot charged the crowd and freed a mounted policeman surrounded by men who apparently were seeking to pull him off his horse. No arrests were made.

The demonstration followed a meeting organized by the International Peace Campaign in Trafalgar Square. Typical cries heard from the crowd were: "Hands off Austria!" "Czechoslovakia Must Remain Free!" "Chamberlain Must Go!" "Support the Covenant of the League of Nations!"

Professor J. B. S. Haldane of London University, noted scientist, told the Trafalgar Square crowd the Prime Minister had "grossly insulted" the King and Queen because "by the advice of their ministers Their Majesties were forced to lunch with the German Foreign Secretary (Joachim von Ribbentrop) while Hitler's troops were invading Austria in violation of the Covenant of the League of Nations."

SCUFFLES WITNESSED

Mr. Haldane and others led the march on the Embassy. Some scuffling broke out, but order was restored quickly.

Other speakers at the square included M. F. Noakes, president of the Cambridge Union, H. H. Elvin, chairman of the General Council of the Trades Union Congress, and Milner Gray, president of the Liberal Party executive.

The meeting approved a resolution stating only prompt action, by the British Government in re-

The resolution urged the government to declare categorically that Britain opposes all forms of foreign intervention in Austria and Czechoslovakia.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler Appears to have had a joyous and triumphant field day in Austria yesterday. Back in the land of his birth, self-made head of the great German Reich, fired with immeasurable ambi- tion, he presented himself to the Austrian people as the "local boy who made good." To the world he puts the thumb of scorn to the nose of derision. The question now would seem to be: What is the next item on the Nazi program?

Great Britain's retort to the quickly-moving events of the week-end took the form of a statement by Prime Minister Chamberlain in the House of Commons this afternoon. He warned Germany that the National Government's policy would be to match force with force—meaning, of course, an expansion of the present armament plans. British protests against Germany's absorption of Austria are countered by Baron von Neurath, head of the Reich's new secret council, with the rejoinder that "the British Government is not within its right in claiming the role of Austria's protector." Leaders in Berlin on Saturday said Britain's warning was "20 years too late." All this means, if it means anything at all, that the new strengthened Germany feels she can tell Downing Street to mind its own business.

Viewed from this distance, Prime Minister Chamberlain's "assurance" to the British people reflects the mental process of a badly-dazed pugilist. Von Neurath points out, in effect, the British Government had been informed on several occasions that relations between the Reich and Austria would have to be regarded as an internal matter and of no concern to third powers. In other words, Germany was not bluffing, as Britain now has discovered to her amazement and discomfort. The guarantee of Austrian integrity specifically laid down in the Treaty of Versailles is now in shreds. Italy, of course, is getting her instructions from Berlin. She is being told to be a good boy—and Signor Mussolini is behaving. The best he can do is extract what consolation he can from the fruits of his own victory over recent British diplomacy.

How closely related are the recent disturbances in the British cabinet—the visit of Viscount Halifax to Berlin a few months ago, the resignation of Mr. Anthony Eden, the appointment of Viscount Halifax to the Foreign Office, and the diplomatic "surrender" to Premier Mussolini—to the events of the week-end may be shortly revealed. When Eden had been replaced by pro-Nazi Halifax, Mr. Chamberlain announced his intention to begin immediately new negotiations with Italy—all in the cause of peace—but with Italy, now with better cards, continuing her bluff. Then Hitler steps in and figuratively tells Chancellor Kurt von Schuschnigg of Austria to postpone his plebiscite scheduled for yesterday. The result is the latter's resignation and the Nazi march on Vienna. Anschluss is now a fait accompli.

The British position, as summarized by Mr. Chamberlain's speech in the House of Commons, is: His Majesty's government is "interested in developments" in Central Europe; ready to expand Britain's armament program as circumstances may warrant; is not promising to back France if she should decide to assist Czechoslovakia in the face of advancing pan-Germanism; but is rejecting any suggestion that Britain had no right to interest herself in Austrian independence. The Prime Minister concluded with this: "We have decided to make fresh reviews and in due course we shall announce what further steps we may think it necessary to take." Meanwhile, however, Europe's chief dictator has added more than 6,000,000 to his own 67,000,000 goosesteppers.

Planes Aren't So Fast MAN IS SMUG WITH HIS AIR LINERS, his air speed and his predictions of stratosphere planes five times as big as any aircraft now in existence. But really he is just a novice and a beginner at this flying business compared with nature.

Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, director of the American Museum of Natural History, tells of a little insect, the cephomyia, whose bullet-like speed breaks all known records. The cephomyia flies 400 yards a second or 818 miles an hour. That is faster than sound travels, almost twice as fast as the fleetest airplane ever built. The cephomyia, if it took a notion and had the endurance, could circle the globe between daylight and darkness. This insect travels in high altitudes with lowered air resistance, but there is a fly that resides in the lowland marshes of New Jersey, announces Dr. Andrews, that can take off from a branch so fast it is "utterly impossible" to tell which way he has gone. Dr. Andrews would like to get both that fly and the cephomyia in a wind tunnel and really time them accurately.

If plane builders grow discouraged, however, they can consider man's brief conquest of the air as compared with the insect's. Even birds have only been on the wing for a mere 135 million years, whereas insects have been flying around for several hundred million years. They should be good.

The Question Answered IS THE MANNER OF HIS GOING A victory for Mussolini—or the beginning of better relations between Great Britain, Italy, and Germany? Two weeks ago this was the question being asked by the promi- nent newspapers of Great Britain as their editors contemplated the resignation of Mr. Anthony Eden from the important position of Foreign Secretary and his replacement by Viscount Halifax.

Here are extracts from Mr. Eden's speech of "explanation" in the House of Commons: "We are in the presence of the progressive deterioration of respect for international obligations. . . . In the light of the present international situation this is a moment for this country to stand firm, not to plunge into negotiations unprepared, but with the full knowledge that the chief obstacles to their success have been dissolved. . . . It is the traditional method of diplomacy to prepare for conversations before they are formally opened. . . . It is seldom right to depart from that traditional method which has been tested by time and experience. It is certainly never right to do so because one party to the negotiations intimates that it is 'now or never.' . . . Agreements that are worth while are never made on a basis of a threat. Nor in the past has this country been willing to negotiate under such conditions."

Answering the question set out at the beginning, the Birmingham Daily Post, strongly Conservative, asserts in part: "Two things have happened. On the one side, Germany has shown herself—practically, in the bullying of Austria; theoretically, in the Hitler speech to the Reichstag, disinclined to have any discussions at all save on Realpolitik lines. On the other side, Italy has shown herself ready, again on Realpolitik lines, to come into partnership with Great Britain in order to avoid the consequences of Realpolitik pushed to its logical and catastrophic conclusion. Mr. Eden, as his most able and consistent defence of his position in the Commons shows, is quite convinced that no concession to Italy which is not conditional on a parallel Italian concession should be made."

Paying a fine tribute to Mr. Eden, especially emphasizing the fact that his resignation "came on the day when Herr Hitler publicly attacked him and after days in which the Italian press had assailed him as an obstacle which it desired to see removed," the Manchester Guardian said at the time "there is now one stumbling-block the less in the path of the dictatorships." It can be noted without hesitation, moreover, that the view expressed by the Guardian is that held by the vast majority of the people of Britain. In the light of what happened in Austria last Friday and Saturday, the comments of two London dailies are worth comparison: The Daily Mail: "The real significance of Mr. Eden's departure is that a turning-point has been reached in our foreign policy. The break with the theories of Geneva has come at last, and the nation looks forward to a new era of sound achievement in high politics. This new line is inevitable if peace is to be maintained."

The Star: "Thousands of men and women in this country admired Mr. Eden because he brought the breath of youth's aspiration into the jaded air of politics. In contrast with the cynicism of the careerists he embodied the idealism of the young. To the naked ruthlessness of power politics in the modern world he opposed the hope of a comity of nations governed by the rule of law. What ever his faults, he stood for the English tradition of justice, of reason, of liberalism."

Local Oarsmen Did Well
ALTHOUGH THE FOUR-OARED CREW of the J.B.A.A. did not win the event upon which it had set its heart in the British Empire Games in Australia, it put up a type of competition which compelled the Australian and New Zealand crews to produce everything they had got to enhance their familiarity with local waters, and their complete comfort in hot climatic conditions—which obviously were somewhat trying for the local boys.

Victoria is proud of the showing the J.B.A.A. crew made. It must be remembered that the time it took for the distance—one mile and 550 yards—was only six seconds slower than the record it established at Elk Lake last year. On that occasion, of course, its shell was lighter and the pace was set without a coxswain. Even with the heavier boat, and with the fifth man in it, less than two lengths separated the Victoria boys and the two successful Antipodean contenders.

CHAMBERLAIN FATUITY AND FASCIST BLUFF
From New York Post
You can always come to terms with the burglar by giving him the silverware, your wallet and the gold trimmings on the grand-father clock.
Britain can have friendly relations with Italy any time it wants to—by recognizing Ethiopia and by helping Franco win in Spain. And that, in simple terms, is what the foreign policy of the present Chamberlain government means.

The speech made by Neville Chamberlain before the Commons, the tribute to the League, the crocodile tears shed over its weaknesses—these are significant only as indications of how strong a hold the League and the idea of collective security have on the British people.

So strong a hold that the very government which is doing its best to wreck the League must pretend to be devoted to the League.

Nor can one take seriously Chamberlain's declaration that his foreign policy regards as axiomatic the need to "preserve the trade routes on which we depend to obtain food and raw materials" and "co-operation in defence of the territories of any allies we might have in case of war."

If these are, indeed, among Chamberlain's basic considerations, he certainly serves them in an odd way.

Loose Ends By BRUCE HUTCHISON

OBITUARY IT IS A SAD THING to see an old friend grow feeble and go to pieces. An old friend of mine went completely to pieces today and it is a sad thing. My wheelbarrow went to pieces today after a long and useful life; a life much more useful than mine or yours. It was 14 years old, a good ripe age for a wheelbarrow, especially after a hard life, lived entirely in the open without shelter or attention, or even a drop of paint to keep out the rain.

We had seen a lot of life together. We had toiled under the baking sun of summer when my wheelbarrow, its wood shrunk, squeaked at every joint. We had labored in the rain and snow of winter, when, soaked and sodden, my wheelbarrow groaned at every joint. We had carried good rich leaf mould and fat loam and rocks and lawn cuttings and good barnyard stuff, until the very essence of the soil had worked into the fibre and texture of my wheelbarrow and it was almost a part of the earth itself.

Some five years ago my wheelbarrow began to show signs of age. It broke a leg in a ghastly accident among the big rocks and amputation was necessary, and the wooden leg which I attached to replace the original, never was very satisfactory. Always after that my wheelbarrow limped a little and had a habit of rolling on its side like some of my friends when they, too, are carrying too-heavy a load.

Two years later it suffered an injury in its middle regions, and a major operation was necessary, a kind of tin grafting which was never a complete success and was always requiring to be mended again. By this year there were more tin and nails in my wheelbarrow than wood, and very little of the original structure left but the wheel, which made fierce complaint at every turn. But still I kept it at work. I gave it no rest, showed it no mercy and I realize now that I overtaxed its strength. Whenever it seemed about to collapse from fatigue I would strap it up with haywire from George Pudge's barn and drive it on. Only its fine spirit and its long and whole-some life kept it going at all.

Well, yesterday, the end came. All at once my wheelbarrow disintegrated with a horrid tearing sound and lay on the ground flat, unable to move, breathing its last. So I have pensioned it off. It will do no more hard work. I shall put new shafts on it after a while and give it a new body and it will do for light jobs. I shall probably use it for the highly specialized work of transporting Mr. Pudge's barnyard stuff for, to tell the truth, my new wheelbarrow is rather above that sort of thing and lacks experience.

But you should see my new wheelbarrow. It has more power than the old one; it has an all-steel body, free wheeling, and automatic gear shift, and it holds the road at a high speed. Yes, and the lines of it, the fine streamlines, are a lovely sight on a bright day. Why, you can see the brilliant red of my wheelbarrow for miles and people come from all round to see it. Every time a friend of mine passes about his new car and I think of my old one, I am cheered by the memory of my wheelbarrow, all ashine out in the sun, and then I am no longer envious. I tell you, a man can't ask for much more than this spring weather and a new wheelbarrow.

LATEST FROM ALBERTA MR. ABERHART'S LATEST notion—he has had several—is that people should start educating the mass of humanity by going about and asking embarrassing questions concerning the economic system. In time, he says, people will begin to think if you ask them enough economic questions that they can't answer. That, he says, is the method Socrates used to get at the truth.

Socrates must have been an annoying old gent, always stopping you on the street, buttonholing you, asking you embarrassing questions which you couldn't answer and he could. I dare say if Socrates were in Victoria today he would be regarded as quite insane, along with a number of other local prophets, well known to you all. Only a few people realized in Athens that the flat-nosed stone cutter was the wisest man of all Greece and one of the wisest of all time. Fortunately he had Plato to write his stuff down for him. Otherwise he would have been forgotten immediately. Whereas our local prophets can only send in letters to the editor and nobody pays any attention to them. Ah, the unfairness of it.

In time it may be found that Mr. Aberhart was the wisest man of this generation, but if he goes around asking about the economic system, instead of explaining it, he will be a great nuisance. So long as he only explained, it caused no difficulty. When he starts asking questions it will be awkward, because nobody can answer. The only difference between Mr. Aberhart and Socrates is that Socrates knew the answer. Mr. Aberhart only knows the question.

KEEPING US ON EVEN KEEL It is the little imperative duties and chores which keep us sane and make life endurable. It is with the eye of a seer that Kipling knew our necessities and writes his poem, "The Supports," that we should be thankful:

Not for Prophecies or Powers, Visions,
 Gifts or Graces,
 But the unregarded hours that grind us in our places
 With the burden on our backs and the weather in our faces.
 Not for any Miracle of easy Leaves and Fishes,
 But for doing 'gainst our will, work against our wishes—
 Such as finding 'food to fill daily-emptied dishes.
 Heart may fail and Strength outward,
 Purpose turn to Loathing
 But the everyday affair of business, meals and clothing,
 Builds a bulkhead 'twixt Despair and the Edge of Nothing.

Righteous Citizen Seeks $25,000 Penalty From Careless M.P. By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

OTTAWA.
THE FACT that one ambitious citizen of Tweed, Ontario, proposes to recover a penalty of $25,000 from Charles Cameron, M.P. for South Hastings, for the latter's failure to file details of his election expenses does not mean that other Canadians have been overlooking a source of "easy money" in the country's electoral laws.

For the ambitious Tweed citizen has exactly the same chance of getting his hands on the $25,000 which he is claiming as he has of taking a quick trip to the moon and back—even if the facts are as he alleges them to be. It is true that the election law provides that a member of parliament shall comply with certain formalities, including the filing of his campaign expenses, and that if he fails to do so any citizen may enter suit against him and claim a penalty of $500 for every day that the M.P. sits in neglect of all the requirements. There is no doubt, furthermore, that the law stipulates that the $500 penalty to which the negligent parliamentarian is liable shall go to the individual who initiates the proceedings.

IN THE case which has been started in the courts in Ottawa against Mr. Cameron the claim is for $25,000—a tidy chunk of change to receive practically for the asking. Persons who read the first told of the suit and expatiated upon the sum which the enterprising man from Tweed stood to receive if it were successful might well have been justified if they wondered just where the election law had been all their lives and how long this opportunity for "easy money" had lain neglected.

Parliament Hill legal authorities, however, supply the comforting reassurance to the general public that, in failing to trip up their favorite M.P. over some technical neglect of the election law, no one has been overlooking anything. For the election law, it seems, is like other laws—only more so. That is to say, the lawyers have discovered, as lawyers have a habit of doing, ways and means of blunting some of its most troublesome teeth—especially the provision which would cost an M.P. $500 for every day which he sat in the House of Commons without having fulfilled all the technical obligations of the Election Act.

The procedure in this latter case is comparatively simple. If plain Bill Smith discovers some detail in which one of the Dominion's statesmen has been technically negligent and sets out to capitalize his knowledge by suing for the penalties which the Election Act provides, all that the statesman involved need do is, first of all, resist the claim. Then he must find some trustworthy friend who can be relied upon, in the face of considerable temptation, to resist giving him the well-known "double-cross" in the realm of politics this conceivably may prove a difficult, but not necessarily impossible, quest.

The faithful friend discovered, a second suit is entered in his name duplicating the one which plain Bill Smith has so ambitiously started. The member of Parliament does not contest this second suit, but immediately admits judgment in it. The result is to dash beyond repair all Bill Smith's rosy visions of sudden wealth and luxury. For by the time his contested writ comes to trial judgment will have been entered on the same set of facts in favor of the M.P.'s friend, who, of course, is bound by understanding never to collect the money. All that Bill Smith gets out of it is his lawyer's bill and a lesson in the old maxim that nothing is obtained in this vale of tears except by the sweat of one's brow. It is the old story all over again, that the only people who have really benefited from the litigation have been the lawyers engaged.

THE ACTION now being instituted by one Charles Edward Way of Tweed against C. A. Cameron, M.P. for South Hastings, follows as a direct sequel to the statement made by Conservative Leader Bennett to the effect that some members of the House of Commons were sitting in violation of the requirement to furnish a detailed statement of their campaign expenses within six months of their election.

Who the other members were—if any—to whom Mr. Bennett was alluding is not known. It is difficult to locate the statesmen who might have offended against this technicality, due to the fact that the returns are made to the returning officer of the riding and are kept for only six months. For individuals—or even a political organization—to make a systematic search of the Dominion would be a gigantic task.

For the individual, furthermore, as already explained, it would be a completely thankless task. On this account, therefore, the electoral law imposes,

Monopolistic Prices
 Pointed to as Key
 To Business Trouble
 By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON.
EVEN the late Harry Houdini could never figure out how a country could have higher prices, less money to spend and, at the same time, as much or more business than before.

That's the chief factor behind more and more public talk about prices—especially "monopolistic" prices—and the possibility of congressional investigations and anti-trust laws.

One is entitled to ask: What is this price situation about which so much fuss is being made? Forty per cent of the whole-sale business in commodities is being done in goods whose prices are higher than they were in September, 1929. This fact has been worked out from Department of Labor statistics as of last September, which showed that 281 of the 784 items on which price figures are collected were higher at that time than on the eve of the big depression eight years ago.

Against those figures, say the anti-monopolists, is the fact that the income of consumers is a third lower than it was in 1929.

STILL HELD RIGID Some prices have gone down since last summer. The fire from Congress and government officials is being directed at price-fixing industries which began to boost prices in the fall of 1936 and now continue to hold them rigid. Because of rapid technological improvement and labor-saving methods, it is contended there are few if any justifications for prices above the 1929 level.

The average wholesale price level last September was 90 per cent of 1929.

The following groups of commodities, as of September, were above 1929 prices:

Coke by 24.4 per cent, cement 11 per cent, drugs and pharmaceuticals 10 per cent, bituminous coal 8.7 per cent woolen and worsted goods 6.6 per cent. Iron and steel 5.1 per cent, paper and pulp 5.1 per cent, lumber 4.3 per cent, miscellaneous building materials 3.7 per cent, automobile tires and tubes 3.5 per cent, shoes 1.3 per cent.

Shoes, clothing and meats were slightly higher. Farm machinery, automobiles, cereal products and furniture were above 1929 prices, while toward the bottom of the list were silk and rayon, 40 per cent; fruits and vegetables 38.6; miscellaneous farm products 65.7; miscellaneous textile products 74.9 and dairy products 79.8.

MANY BLAME LABOR Widespread opinion is that price increases have been due to wage increases obtained by organized labor. Assistant Attorney-General Robert H. Jackson, the administration's anti-trust crusader, after a speech in New York in which he attacked high fixed prices, received a small snow-storm of letters from persons who blamed labor.

Now Jackson comes back with the results of a detailed and authoritative study by federal statisticians following the 10 per cent wage increase in the steel industry, the most dramatic and important increase of the year.

He says the wage increases could have been covered by a 5.5 per cent price increase—or 9.1 per cent to cover higher material costs due to wage increases elsewhere—but that the actual 1936-37 steel price increase was 21 per cent.

Jackson and the New Deal economists are willing to admit that, at the other extreme, many prices (unfixed) may be "too low."

Whatever administration price policy may eventually be, Roosevelt has to accept much responsibility. NRA codes fostered monopoly and price-fixing. The fact that consumers pay 10 per cent more for drugs than in 1929 is largely due to state laws and the Patman-Robinson and Miller-Tydings laws which Roosevelt refused to veto. Bituminous coal prices are held up by the Guffey Act. You can't blame the Morgan, Mellon, Koppers, Du Pont, U.S. Steel and similar groups for everything.

COLD SPOT From Peace River News Teddy Green and Slim Ellis of the Federal Ranch have been in for supplies. They report that the thermometer dropped down to 58 degrees below zero out there. They had to come here to thaw out.

It is not believed on Parliament Hill that the action against Mr. Cameron is likely to be the forerunner of a general public drive against M.P.'s who, in the election of their victory, may have been disposed to underestimate the importance of the red tape the electoral law imposes.

DEFENCE "GRAVY" To the Editor:—Reading your report of Mr. C. Grant McNell's speech at Toronto, with reference to his accusation of "gravy" in the Department of National Defence. It is difficult to let it go unchallenged by anyone who has served in the permanent force, since it is well known that all contracts have to be approved by Ottawa. Strict rules and regulations are complied with before payment is made. Only a congenial idiot would believe that the Department of National Defence would incur in the spending of $2,000 for the sake of one officer and N.C.O.

Personally, I think the post of Minister of the Department of National Defence is one of the most difficult in the government, as all members of the permanent force or N.P.A.M. know that the services are like an umbrella—"only wanted when it rains."

It seems to me the present incumbent of the office as Minister of National Defence is very efficient and knows more about the details and what is needed than the majority of his predecessors, and is bolder in his methods of administration.

Of course one really should treat Mr. McNell's statements with silent contempt, as it is plain agitation, not constructive criticism, which one would expect from even an embryo statesman. But it is evidently the kind of gossip his supporters like. One sure thing, the C.C.F. will never rule Canada, since there are not enough people in the country who could qualify for such downright stupidity as to be influenced by such a crude policy, which is purely scandal and gossip.

As for his allusion to Canada being committed to the decisions of Downing Street; what does he want? There are two alternatives: one is to be committed to the decisions of Washington; the other, conscript all the male population of Canada between the ages of 15 and 50 years of age, and train them to protect our Canada.

 Increase in the cost of radio will not meet with favor among the owners of electric radio sets in Golden under present conditions. THERE IS A BEAUTY TO EACH WAVE
 Agnes A. Pierson in The New York Times
 There is a beauty to each wave no man can know except he watch in solitude—Driven by the press of time or mood—As if he were an artist making plans To capture for himself the liquid fire That owns a thousand plumes. He sees The sacred furrow, the prancing foam Imbued With power to leap on high. Then only can He paint upon the canvas of his mind The swift enigmas lifted to crest The long white powdered curls that are crowned Around the finger of the shore, the nest With which the distant breakers, one behind Another, run like buffaloes head pressed.

JANITORING IN SAANICH

To the Editor:—Comrade Dann who is disgusted with wages of $20 a month for a janitor-carpenter-engineer-floor scrubber, etc. is hereby informed that lots of janitors are paid only $15 a month, and have to make out a time sheet, accounting for every hour worked on the Saanich schools. But they are wiser than Comrade Dann as they are keeping strict account of their time on another time sheet which they intend sooner or later to place in the hands of Labor Minister Pearson. They can collect and get every cent of back pay. One janitor has $120 back pay already chalked up and the others have similar bills. There can be no reprisals as the minimum wage law looks after this sort of thing.

WORK ON RAILWAYS

To the Editor:—The idea of the two Canadian railways operating under one private management and maintaining their individual ownership would be about as workable as that of placing a lion and a lamb in the same enclosure. It would be all right for the lion.

In January, 1929, there were 161,035 employees in Canada on the rolls of the two large railways. Late in 1937 this figure was reduced to 110,135. This shows that 50,900 men have died, been laid off or pensioned since 1929 and men have not been employed to take their places. The largest percentage of these 50,900 men were laid off on account of staff reductions and thousands of them all over Canada are still without jobs. If Mr. Beatty's claim that normal labor turnover would take care of such staff reductions, why have these men not been re-employed over a period of nine years? If you figure four to an employee's family some 200,000 people are already seriously affected by staff reductions, likely many of them on relief.

If private ownership is given a free hand I believe that it will reduce the 110,135 figure now employed down to around 70,000 almost within a year by doing what is obviously in their minds (despite their assurance to the contrary); that is the abandoning of miles of branch lines, abolishing of whole staffs in every city and town, and closing hundreds of offices, reducing train services and many other moves.

Before the people surrender and make a final retreat into the dangerous shoals of monopoly and amalgamation every possible plan to re-establish the railways should be tried.

SEES FASCIST HAND IN PASTEURIZATION

To the Editor:—The attempt to force pasteurization milk on the people of Victoria and vicinity has reached a stage which calls for discussion and enlightenment. An article by Dr. McCullough is to say the least controversial. Not only does it prove nothing—except the ineptness of the writer—but there are contradictions and confusions. For instance one medico asserts that the germ of tuberculosis is always killed and another says he "rarely found a sample of milk containing tubercle germs when it was said to have been pasteurized." There is also a statement about "sterilization," which we are told is not to be confused with "pasteurization."

Because some interested people make assertions, we, the common people, are expected to accept them, for lack of adequate knowledge or opportunity to make our own tests. But apart from the "benefits" or otherwise of pasteurization, the campaign for compulsory marketing of such products is another of the forms by which monopoly capitalism seeks to further entrench itself at the expense of the consumers and producers. The further modernization (which is all it amounts to) of the milk industry will force independent producers to be feelers for the processing and distributing companies which produce, nothing but opportunities for owners of such plants to make greater profits. It is to be hoped that the public and more especially independent milk producers will organize to stop this incipient Fascist move.

SOCIAL REFORM AND CREDIT

To the Editor:—I have given considerable study to the literature put out by social crediters, but find in all my studies they constantly deal with the effects and not the cause, in other words they never get down to fundamentals, that all the problems that confront us today, is due to the private ownership of the means of production.

Today we are living under a system of society known as capitalism, under which everything is produced as a commodity, that is for sale, to make a profit, and as labor power is a commodity to be sold at its cost of reproduction, it is through the commodity nature of labor power that all profit is produced, in other words all profits is derived from labor power, and not from machinery, raw material, or natural resources.

I hope all social crediters will study the above, as they constantly state "that goods are produced for use," which is a contradiction of the fact. All goods are produced to make a profit, hence if the people have not the price to buy, there is no sale, no sale no profit, and the people must go without same, that is why we are not permitted to consume all the goods we can produce, also that is why we need a community chest to take care of those whom society cannot employ in the productive field at a profit.

As social crediters believe all our problems can be solved by controlling our financial institutions, may I point out to them, that the present financial system does not stand in opposition to the economic system. On the contrary, it runs exactly parallel with it and far from eliminating the exploitation to be met with in the economic world. The methods of modern finance simply reproduce it, and accentuate the difficulties which arise therefrom.

Therefore once we realize and understand that the value of gold from which money is coined to exchange equivalents, is determined by the socially necessary labor embodied in its production, we will not be confused by the palliatives put forth by our social reformers.

OFFERS TO GIVE $30

[To the Editor:—Now that the housing problem in Canada is being tackled, is it not about time that our civic authorities considered their position in the matter?]

Our coast cities have all an abundance of reverted lots crying out to be used and growing crops of noxious weeds shoulder high. Is the attitude of our councils to be that of the dog-in-the-manger speculator who will neither make use of his opportunities nor allow others to do so until he has been handsomely paid to get out of the way?

The initial cost of land is the great barrier to be overcome in this and all business propositions. A young fellow writing in the News-Herald of February 22 says: "I'm one of the thousands of young working men who has dreams of some day owning his own home, but I haven't got a cash. . . . Don't you readers think the government could make the down payment say $100 including the lot, so that young workers would have a chance to have their own homes? . . . The only thing that stands between me and my own home is the initial payment."

Isn't it clear and plain that the solution of the problem is to lease the lots, instead of holding them up for a price? Would it not be the best kind of policy to remove the barrier of initial price and allow thousands of young fellows a chance to become homeowners? Would it not be a great advantage to the cities themselves to be getting some revenue at the moment, avoiding the weed menace and having the prospect of ever-increasing revenue from rising rentals? Of course, ground rentals would only rise in proportion to community benefits, and the lowering or wiping out of improvement taxes.

I would suggest that the hard-working mayors of Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster take a holiday and go over to Stockholm to see how the leasing system works there. Politicians get lots of holidays, why not mayors?

This is no joke. A Scotsman is usually serious when he puts his hand in his pocket. I am willing to contribute $10 towards the traveling expenses of each gentleman, $30 in all, and I am confident that many others would do likewise should some editor kindly open a subscription list. I am sure that Mayor Miller, Mayor McCavir and Mayor Hume are broadminded enough to realize that we can learn a few things from other people, and the trip might at least be good for their health.

The Swedes are a steady-going, safe and sane sort of people, not likely to follow any wild-o-the-wisp, so their experiments are apt to be well thought out and conservative. From what I hear of their housing plan it would seem to be an example to the world.

BIBLE MEETING

To the Editor:—You carry notices of the visit of Rev. G. W. Shepherd of Shanghai, but I would ask your leave hereby to call additional attention to it. The occasion will be the annual meeting of the Victoria Branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society, which fact will probably detract interest—though it should not—from Mr. Shepherd's address as the feature of the meeting. He is recently from China and has first-hand information about that unhappy country where he has been the society's representative for many years. He is an able and interesting speaker.

The meeting will be on Monday evening in the lecture hall of the Metropolitan Church.

Business Rule Era Passing, He Says

WASHINGTON — Representative Maury Maverick, House "liberal bloc" leader, told the National Lawyers' Guild convention that unrestricted business and commercial practices can lead only to anarchy in national life.

"The du Pont theory is that if you make big enough profits, even if it takes a war and millions of lives, that it is to the best interests of the country," Maverick said. "As far as I am concerned, this is a dangerous doctrine, even in a land of liberty and democracy and free speech. Government exists for the people, and it must necessarily be on the alert to protect itself—and, by protecting itself, it means the protection of the national life, which includes business men and what they are trying to do. The government should be controlled by the people and not by business men or any single group."

Maverick said the business man must recognize "that the government will more and more have something to say about his business and methods," adding that "the various strata of business, labor and professional life will be forced to change practices, habits and ideas if they continue to exist."

"The business man must recognize that he no longer can be a free lance make-as-much-as-you-can and to-hell-with-the-country operator," the Texan continued. "There is no place left for such business men. And realizing the country has changed, let him throw in with the government instead of at it."

"If business does not, we will have to try to do it without their help. It will benefit both if help can be freely rendered," he said.

CHEMAINUS

The card party and old-time dance last week, sponsored by the Chemainus Women's Benefit Association was a success. The prizewinners were Miss Gladys Dadds, A. Bennett, Mrs. Eric Knight and J. Somerville. Supper was served by the social committee, the table being decorated with wood lilies and marigolds.

The Chemainus Garden Club met last week, the 54 persons present coming from Nanaimo, Saltair and Westholme. Professor E. M. Straight of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Sidney was the speaker. He talked on garden planning, grafting and budding.

61 Millionaires Made in Year

WASHINGTON — The number of millionaire taxpayers increased from 41 in 1935 to 61 in 1936, the Treasury disclosed.

A preliminary analysis of 1936 individual income tax returns revealed that the nation's 61 millionaires paid $10,856,000 more income taxes than 2,237,737 individuals in the "$5,000 or under" income bracket. The net income of the lower income group, however, exceeded that of the millionaires by $5,395,108,000.

The analysis of returns filed in the period January through August, 1937, showed that millionaires reported net income totaling $107,641,000 and paid $7,138,000 in taxes. In 1933 the millionaire taxpayers reported an aggregate net income of $73,630,000. They paid $41,499,000 in taxes.

The taxpayers in the $5,000 and under class reported net income amounting to $5,502,749,000, as compared with $4,051,391,000 in 1935. They contributed $66,282,000 in taxes, against $44,763,000 in 1935.

PARLIAMENTS FACING TRIAL

World Testing Their Ideals Against Dictatorship, Says London Visitor

Work of the Empire Parliamentary Association is becoming more and more important because the question of parliamentary government is uppermost in people's minds at the present time, said Sir Howard d'Egville, secretary-general of the association, in an address at a dinner tendered him Saturday by the local branch, with Mr. Speaker N. W. Whittaker, K.C., presiding.

With the rise of dictatorships, the position of parliamentary governments is being seriously considered," he said. "The question has arisen of their efficiency and of their means of getting together to present a common front to the dictatorships."

"Parliamentary government has had setbacks in some countries, but if you had visited them as I have done, you would understand that they have never really tried it. These countries, in Europe, have a different conception of it entirely than we have in the British Empire. I feel that parliamentary government is at present on its trial."

Sir Howard pointed out that this was one of the chief links of empire, the other being the crown.

"It is up to us to see that it is used as a link in acknowledging the democratic feeling of our age," he said.

Sir Howard reviewed the work of the Empire Parliamentary Association, the different conferences it had held and its value for interchanging ideas between different parts of the empire. The conference held last year before the Imperial Conference of empire governments had been particularly useful in bringing out ideas on immigration, trade, shipping and defence.

Other speakers at the dinner were Premier Pattullo, who welcomed the guest, and R. L. Maitland, K.C., representing the Conservative opposition in the Legislature. The British Columbia branch of the association consists of members of the House.

The first professional school of forestry in the country was started in 1898 at Cornell University; before that prospective foresters had to go to Europe for training or learn from individuals.

Praise People, Score Roads

Tourists Comment on Impressions of Vancouver Island

Vancouver Island is a place of courteous people and bad roads.

That seems to be the general reaction of United States visitors, to judge from the majority of the replies received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau to its tourist questionnaires.

One reply received over the week-end came out with a scathing attack on the ferry rates between the island and the United States. It read:

"We were on Vancouver Island on Sunday and Labor Day, so all the stores were closed, but we had no money left after paying the ferry fare, so it made little difference to us."

Extracts from other replies follow:

"We enjoyed the quaint hospitality of the clerks and waitresses who were very friendly."

"The road to Nanaimo is too narrow and dangerous."

"Disappointed to arrive in Victoria Wednesday noon and find the shops shut. Warn tourists of this in future."

"Being fond of Chinese food we visited a Chinese joint and have never seen a more filthy place anywhere (Sorry!!)"

"We have made five trips to Victoria and have always enjoyed our visits. However, on this last visit we did feel you were commercializing on your tourist trade so that Victoria was becoming more like the average American city."

"Roads are very poor and narrow."

"I couldn't conscientiously recommend the roads of Vancouver Island to any of my friends."

"Thrilled at the Scottish music that welcomed us at the boat."

"The beauty of the island is being spoiled by the ruthless cutting of trees."

"Especially enjoyed Beacon Hill Park because of the dignified observance of Sunday there."

"The attitude of the people was especially good."

"We enjoyed the courtesy and hospitality shown us everywhere."

"We were very much impressed with the friendliness and courtesy of your people and do not feel it is just Sunday manners."

Horse Marines Now No More

PEIPING — The world's only horse marines have passed out of existence here.

This mounted detachment of the United States Embassy Marine guard passed in a last review before a record crowd of Americans and other foreigners at Breckenridge before disbanding forever.

The horse marines consisted of 30 expert sabremen, all crack pistol and rifle shots, commanded by one officer. The detachment was first organized here in 1912 to protect Americans living outside the Embassy quarters in Peiping's narrow lanes.

The government's decision to split the Peiping Embassy guard, transferring half its personnel to Tientsin to replace the departing 15th Infantry, caused the famous mounted marines to be disbanded. The men will be absorbed into other regular marine combat units.

Over 700 At Golf Week Finale

Premier Pattullo Presented Prizes At Cabaret

Coming as a grand and hilarious finale to the most successful Winter Golf Tournament ever held in Victoria, Saturday's cabaret drew over 700 visiting and local golfers and their friends to the Empress Hotel. And had there been room, the number would have been nearly 1,000, for over 200 would-be guests were reluctantly turned away owing to lack of accommodation.

From start to finish, the party went with a swing and a follow-through which made it a fitting climax to the round of gay social affairs arranged in honor of the visiting golfers.

The augmented orchestra, under the direction of Professor W. F. Tickle, excelled itself in tuneful rhythm, and during the evening dedicated two numbers specially to Mrs. J. C. Baldwin of Seattle, who was celebrating her birthday, and to Mrs. L. Papineau of Montreal.

PRIZES PRESENTED

Graham Graham, president of the Colwood Golf Club, formally presented the handsome prizes to the winners in the tournament, the men's championship prize, a large oval silver tray being won by Mr. Harold Wilson, Victoria, who also won the special prize of the tournament, the Sir Edward Beatty Cup. Miss Joan Fletcher, the winner of the ladies' championship, received a pair of three-branch candelabra.

The Premier, in happy vein, complimented the winners and invited all the visitors to come again next year and bring their friends. He also spoke in praise of the work of the various committees responsible for the tournament's success. Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson, who, with the assistance of dancers of the Russian Ballet School, repeated the "Spanish fiesta" cabaret turn presented "Wednesday evening, the recipient of a beautiful basket of spring flowers from the hotel management. A Royal Trio

Adoration for their first-born is the keynote of this intimate family study of Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, her consort, Prince Bernhard, and their daughter, the Princess Beatrix. This is the first photo of Juliana since the event that brought the Netherlands an addition to the royal line. The picture was made at the Soestdijk Palace, where the baby princess was born.

Princesses Hope to See Canada

Albanians Are Interviewed By Saskatoon Girl

NEW YORK — The Albanian princesses Myzehe, Rihle and Maxhide were in strict retirement Saturday evening until a young Canadian student of journalism, Calais Calvert of Saskatoon, suggested they might be considering a Canadian visit and requested an interview.

If quickly developed that Canada, to the princesses, meant quiet beauty of landscape as a relief from the excitement of a crowded city.

The Canadian woman was ushered in where the "professional" reporters were not permitted to tread. Princess Myzehe, eldest of the sisters, was the spokeswoman; her chief interest is the mink. She would like to obtain Canadian pelts and have them modeled in Paris.

Youngest of the trio, Maxhide, is president of the Albanian Girl Guides. She would like to meet Canadian Girl Guide leaders. The princesses are scheduled to sail for home the end of the month to attend the wedding of their brother, King Zog, April 25. If it is found they cannot visit Canada this trip, they hope to return in a year.

No Reduction In U.S. Beauty Tax
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Chivalry doesn't stand chance. Congresswomen agreed today, when it runs up against a $17,000,000 tax item.

Male members of the House howled down Thursday every suggestion of the "powder puff bloc" that the 10 per cent cosmetics tax be repealed, or at least reduced.

"Why don't you be sporting?" pleaded Representative Mary Norton, Dem., New Jersey.

"Give the women a chance," said Representative Edith Rogers, Rep., Massachusetts.

The men of the House said "no-o-o."

"Very well, come back Mrs. Norton, 'I propose 5 per cent.'"

"No-o-o-o-o-o."

And thus did realism ("we need the money," said the men) triumph over beauty.

Problem Girls Trained At School

United Church Has Success With Georgetown School

GEORGETOWN, Ont. — The Cedarvale School for Girls, at Georgetown, one of a number of institutions maintained by the United Church of Canada, is this month completing 10 years' service.

The school, which is supervised by Miss Jessie Oliver, who has been superintendent since 1928, undertakes the care and training of many underprivileged girls under 16 years of age, the majority of them referred to the school by Children's Aid Societies in Canada. All the girls come from homes which have been broken up, many of them have problems arising from unsuitable home conditions and lack of training.

Miss Oliver, who received her training first as a nurse and later as a Deaconess of the United Church, is assisted by a qualified school teacher, a domestic science teacher and an experienced housekeeper. The training given the girls at the school has been on a fourfold program, physical, mental, social and spiritual. Classes are organized up to the first year of high school, and an earnest attempt has been made to give instruction in sewing, baking, laundry, handicraft work and music.

 The girls' play is constantly supervised. Good, wholesome meals are provided at regular hours, and definite rest periods are provided. The girls are taught sewing, old dresses and stockings are made over into quilts and mats.
 A fine spirit of wholesome religious teaching is in the school. Spiritual matters are not taught as a thing apart, but as an influence that permeates all the girls do.

HOPE TO GET BETTER DEAL

Relief Officers to See Employment Agency Head on Unemployability

Hopes for a more equitable interpretation of the unemployability classification of city relief cases under the new provincial relief rulings were expressed by E. G. Snowden, city relief officer, Saturday as he prepared to join F. Kitto, Saanich official, in an interview with J. McVeety, superintendent for British Columbia of the Employment Service of Canada in Vancouver.

The two officials left yesterday for the mainland to discuss the interpretation of new rulings dealing with the different definitions of unemployables.

Under the new rulings, particularly Clause 8 of Circular 207, the officials contend virtually any man in Victoria could be listed as unemployable.

Mr. Snowden considered unjust the section which declared a chronic indigent an unemployable. The government permitted one agency only, the Employment Service of Canada, to find employment for city cases. If that agency could not find a man work in the course of a year, the new rulings classified such a man as unemployable. Should the Employment Service of Canada fall down in that respect, he felt there was no justification for placing the burden of unemployability on the city taxpayers, he said.

The officials expect to return to Victoria tomorrow morning and will report to their committees immediately.

Guarantee for Parade Prizes

At a meeting in the City Hall Saturday, the City Council's celebration committee undertook to guarantee prize money for August parades here to the extent of $3,000.

The parades will be staged under the direction of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which was congratulated for the successful manner in which it handled festive processions last year.

Alderman W. H. Davies was named the city's representative on the parade committee.

Plans were approved to hold a queen contest to help finance the festivities.

BLUBBER BAY STRIKE ENDED

Men Back at Work as Act Outlaws Walkout

Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, said Saturday the 100 men striking at the Pacific Lime Company's Blubber Bay plant had returned to work and will continue negotiations with the company in their dispute.

The minister said there would be no need to proceed against the men under the Industrial Disputes Conciliation and Arbitration Act which outlaws strikes until conciliation methods have failed. Labor department officials explained this to the men and the minister said he was satisfied they had struck in ignorance of it. Seventy-five of the strikers were Chinese.

If the men are unable to reach a settlement with the company the matter will go to arbitration, the minister said. Should this occur it will be the first formal arbitration since the new labor law was passed last session.

Westerns-Varsity Series All Even

Former Take Second Game of Mainland Hoop Playoff 25 to 22

VANCOUVER — University of British Columbia hoopers today planned revenge for the 25 to 22 beating Westerns handed them here Saturday night in the second game of the best three out of five series for the British Columbia Lower Mainland Basketball title.

Both teams are tied with one game each, but the collegians, last year's Dominion champions, feel confident that the third game tomorrow will see them one up on their rivals. Varsity will be playing on its home floor.

The Saturday game was played at the Vancouver Athletic Club gym and to many observers this accounted for the usually smooth-working Thunderbird zone defence system failing to click.

Varsity trailed through every quarter. They were down 8 to 6 in the first, 11 to 4 in the second and 22 to 14 in the third.

Westerns played inspired basketball as they smashed their way through a close-checking game. They broke through on rushes and scored from outside

Dominoes Guard Named to First Team in Seattle Tourney; Tacoma Champs

SEATTLE — The Tacoma All Heidelberg team Saturday night won the Pacific Northwest Amateur Athletic Union basketball title and left immediately for the United States national tournament at Denver.

The Tacoma won, 28 to 20, from the Cammaranos of Seattle in the final game of the tourney. Earlier, the Victoria Dominoes were eliminated from the fight for third place in the final standings when they bowed before the strong Yakima, Washington, five in an afternoon game. The Yakima team was a pre-tournament favorite before losing a game Friday night. They lead the Dominoes, 22 to 15, at half-time.

Bill Dahlke, guard, sparked the Tacoma team on their title drive. Both teams appeared tired, however, and the final game was slower than previous tourney matches. The winners held a safe 13 to 5 margin at half-time. Victoria's Chuck Chapman was named to the first all-star team, selected by the tournament committee, umpires and newspapermen.

ALL-STAR TEAMS

First team — Jack Holstine, Tacoma forward; Cassius Dolquist, Yakima, forward; Huntley Gordon, Mount Vernon, centre; Chuck Chapman, Victoria, guard; Ralph Cairney, Alpine (Seattle), guard.

Cardinals Are Island Champs

Defeat Port Alberni Girls in Total Points to Capture Cage Laurels

Manager Jack Taylor's Cardinals marched into the British Columbia senior B women's cage finals Saturday night at Port Alberni when they emerged from a two-game, total-point series with the home-town girls with a 45 to 42 score.

The Victorians were beaten Saturday, 20 to 18, but took the series through the extra points they gained in the first game here, 27 to 22.

The Cardinals will meet the B.C. Telephone Company squad, Vancouver, for the provincial title.

Saturday's battle was a fast, rough affair, with close-checking predominating. The result was plenty of fouls and before the final gong five players had been ordered to the bench on personals. Peggy Whyte, Virginia Hall and Jane Trotter were the Victoria players forced to finish the game on the sidelines, while Phyllis Blackmore and Mary Byrne were tagged with four personals on the Port Alberni team.

The Alberni girls were leading 7 to 6 at the interval.

STEWART COMES THROUGH

Montrealers who recalled Nels Stewart's playing days with the Maroons honored him before Saturday's game. So, after receiving gifts of silver and crystal, "Big Sam" stepped out to score the winning goal for Americans, the 29th of his big league career.

Gus Merker gave Montreal an early lead that was tied by an early goal awarded to Red Beattie. The officials said Bill Beveridge threw his stick as he went down to stop the Amerks' wingman.

Stewart sank the deciding goal with less than four minutes to go and when Beveridge was pulled from the Maroon nets to make way for a sixth forward, Lorne Carr increased the margin.

GARRISON AND CITY IN DRAW

Soldiers Off Color But Manage to Even Score; Wests Win By Default

The Garrison football machine that took the field at the Athletic Park Saturday afternoon wasn't the same smooth-working aggregation soccer followers have seen in action in recent weeks. They were definitely off color.

The soldiers were considered lucky to emerge from their first division scuffle with a much more lively Esquimalt eleven in a 2 to 2 deadlock. It was a lively match, though, and the fans were treated to some tense moments as the teams periodically brought their big guns into action and blasted away at opposing nets.

Victoria West advanced into the leadership berth of the second half race without even having to play. They were awarded two points when Victoria City turned up short eight regulars and defaulted. An exhibition game was played in its stead, the Wests winning 4 to 2. Garrison is one point below the Wests in the standings while Esquimalt city are tied for third place.

The dockers had the better of the first half exchanges, penetrating the Garrison's somewhat sluggish defence on two occasions to score. Payne, Holness and Barnswell engineered the combinations that resulted in these two markers, which came within two minutes of each other halfway through the stanza.

Barnswell planted the two shots in this half the Garrison forwards were quite weak on their attacks, with Doug Laird, powerful full-back, being a tough obstacle to hurdle.

When play resumed it looked as though the soldiers had regained some semblance of harmony in the forward line, for at the kickoff they surged into enemy territory where Stewart, centre-forward, netted on Shone's opening. But their rally was short lived. They soon reverted back to their disorganized first-half style. At times they showed flashes of their true form.

For many minutes after the Garrison goal, Esquimalt pounded away with zest on the other end in an attempt to draw away from the danger of a tie score. But Goalie Clarke, subbing for the suspended Elliott, was a hard man to beat. Laird proved to be a big help to the goalie. He had a sure foot. The game was near its finish and Garrison was back on the attack. McIlvenney's shot hit the crossbar, the return kick being handled by Laird—a sure goal. Worswick scored from the penalty spot to even up matters 2 to 2.

"Scotty" McKay refereed.

Teams follow:

Garrison—Clarke, Evans, A. Wilkinson, W. Wilkinson, Wallace, Thompson, McIlvenney, Cook, Stewart, Worswick and Shone.

Esquimalt—Chalmers, Stewart, Laird, Holt, Cooper, Sage, Bell, Tregalis, Barnswell, Holness and English.

Indian Broom Is Way Best In Mud

Shows Heels to Field in $10,000 Handicap at Santa Anita Track

LOS ANGELES — Showing a great liking for the sloppy and slippery track, Indian Broom forgot to sulk for the first time this winter and pranced to a daylight victory over a field of left-overs from the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, in the Getaway Day feature Saturday afternoon.

The crowd of 38,000 fans had Aneroid tabbed as the getaway special, backing him down to 2 to 1 in the $10,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap, but Indian Broom upset their dope with a runaway race that left his rivals floundering at the finish as he crossed the wire a length and a quarter in front.

FAST TIME
Major A. C. Taylor's sturdy chestnut, holder of the world record of 1:47.35 for the mile and one-eight, made the sloppy track look fast as he reeled off three-quarters in 1:11.45, a mile in 1:38 flat and a mile and one-eighth in 1:51.25, only a second behind Stagehand's Santa Anita Derby victory on a pasteboard surface.

Closest to him at the finish was the Silver State Stable's Star Shadow, another superior mudder that was backed down to second choice. Amor Brujo, the Uruguay horse, was third.

Fourth in the blanket finish for the minor awards was the favored Aneroid, staggering under his high impost of 123 pounds.

Indian Broom, closing at 4 to 1, paid $10.60 for winning tickets. The 56-day meeting closed with a record betting handle of $36,655,540.

In 1934-35, the year Santa Anita opened its gates, $15,897,684 was wagered during the meeting. The next year the sum went to $25,251,933, and the 1937 season total was $29,509,529.

Visitors to Canyon de Chelly, New Mexico, sometimes arrange to leave glass articles where the bright sun can color them, and, interestingly enough, pickle bottles and other cheap glass take on lovely tints, while good glass resists the violet rays of the desert sun.

SHOOTING CASE OPENS ASSIZES

Jackson Graves Before Court On Charge of Attempt to Murder Constable

Trial of Jackson Graves, charged on three counts including one of attempting to murder Provincial Police Constable S. E. Menzies at Port Renfrew on December 12 last, opened the spring Assizes here today.

Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson is presiding as Crown prosecutor, and H. W. Davey as defence counsel.

In addition to the charge of shooting at and attempting to murder Constable Menzies, Graves also faces counts of obstructing an officer in the performance of his duty and in unlawfully assaulting an officer while in the execution of his duty.

Following Graves' plea of not guilty, Mr. Martin summarized the Crown's case. Graves, he said, had visited the house where his estranged wife was living with her mother and grandmother twice on the day of December 11 and had returned early on the morning of December 12. He had broken open the door, and after an altercation, beaten his wife, Beatrice, before striking his mother-in-law, Constable Menzies had been summoned and had arrested Graves. Graves had been unwilling to leave the house where his wife was staying. There had been a tussle in which Graves and the constable had fallen down steps from the house, Crown counsel said. He further stated that the officer had been stunned and while in that condition, Graves had taken his revolver, loaded with five cartridges.

Graves, Crown counsel said, had ordered Constable Menzies back into the house where he had discharged one shell accidentally. Following that he had pointed the gun in the direction of the constable and fired the four remaining shots, Mr. Martin stated.

The constable was not hit. Mr. Davey objected to the outline of events prior to the arrival of Constable Menzies.

Kelso Blakeney, a surveyor, identified a plan of the premises where the incident allegedly occurred.

Mrs. Helen McDonald, mother of the wife, Beatrice, testified to events in the house in which she, Beatrice, an older lady and a child, the son of Graves, had been living. She told the court she had said to Graves that he was drunk when he came to the house. He had replied he was not, witness said.

She outlined incidents of the day in which Graves had been involved and described the beating she said he had given his wife. Mrs. McDonald said she had struck Graves with a piece of stove wood in an attempt to end the struggle.

A broken door, articles of clothing with stains witness said were mud and blood, and a flashlight were entered as exhibits.

In reply to question by Mr. Martin, witness stated Graves had threatened to kill "all of us" when he returned from jail. He had made the threat twice, once before the arrival of the constable and once after, Mrs. McDonald stated, in cross-examination by Mr. Davey.

Since the trouble, the wife, Beatrice Graves, had returned to live with the accused, Mrs. McDonald testified.

Members of the jury are: W. P. Regan, foreman, W. E. Quayle, Alexander McCormick, Reginald Burton, Hugh G. McAlpine, Grace A. Jennings, Nils L. Nylander, Arthur Cooper, John W. Molynaux, James Mills, Wm. A. Yule and Arthur B. Armstrong.

The response to the appeal made by the committee for medical aid for China for old clothes, white linen or cotton for bandages, as well as cash offerings, has been gratifying. Already the office shelves at 1426 Government Street are piled high and cash receipts have increased daily. Today workers for the first time engaged in making bandages. Large quantities of white material were cut in strips, sewn together by machine into lengths from 16 to 20 feet, and rolled on the rollers. A registered nurse supervised and instructed the work. The committee hopes the bandage-making may continue daily, and to make this possible the supply of old white goods must continue to pour in and more helpers are required. The entire cash received goes to purchase medical supplies, as all the work is done voluntarily.

In a Japanese Seaport

Yokohama, Japan: This city is an important seaport. Often it is called "the Gateway to Tokio," for most travelers pass through it on their way to Japan's capital. Fifteen years ago, Yokohama was almost completely destroyed by an earthquake (and fires which followed the quake), but it has been rebuilt, and is now a good-looking city. The population is close to 700,000.

Giant statue of the Buddha at Kamakura.

To look at a Japanese city on the outside, a person would hardly think the nation was at war. Things seem peaceful enough, except that here and there soldiers march along a street.

Talk to the people, however, and you will find out a little about the war. I have noticed that if a visitor brings up the subject of war, a Japanese may speak about it, but usually he doesn't talk very long.

Read the newspapers, and you also will learn a little about the war. One item tells of 23 university professors being arrested. They will be questioned as to whether they have said or done anything against the war. If they are judged guilty, it will mean prison—most likely, but possibly a death sentence.

In English language newspapers of China, I read about Chinese brave deeds and victories on almost every page. Here in Japan, the story is the other way around. The papers tell about victories of the Japanese armies. A report of a battle seems always to run something like this: "More than 1,000 Chinese soldiers were killed. There were 15 casualties among the Japanese troops."

New taxes are reported from time to time. More and more money must be raised to wage the war.

Japan's trade has suffered. Foreign countries are not buying nearly so much from Japan as in former years. This is because people of most nations think Japan is doing wrong by sending warships and armies against China.

Not far from Yokohama is a gigantic statue which would seem to carry a lesson about the war. It is known as "the Silent Buddha," and it rises to a height about as great as that of a four-story building. The Buddha was in favor of peace and good will. In Japan, as well as in China, the most widespread religion is Buddhism.

Japan also has the important Shinto faith, but more than 40,000,000 of the people are Buddhists.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

Tuesday, March 15, 1938

Mingled good and evil planetary influences are discerned in the horoscope for today, according to astrology. The morning is propitious for negotiating important business.

Under this rule executives of business or government agencies should be disposed to aid those who ask favors. It is a lucky day to seek employment.

Better understanding of the problems of government leaders is indicated. The president and other government officials should gain greatly in public admiration under this configuration.

Warning is given that jealousy may be prevalent in politics and business. The stars seem to encourage the sort of egotism which retards legislative accomplishment.

Writing is well directed under this rule of the stars, which favors newspapers as well as books and periodicals. It is a lucky date for signing contracts or leases.

In the evening women should benefit through social contacts. Hospitality is subject to the best aspects and may be favorable to romances among the young.

This should be a carefree wedding day. The young will take no thought of war clouds or

Women's Peevish Against Marriage

Dorothy Dix

Hard Work To Hold Husbands

THE OTHER DAY I wrote about some of the things that men dislike most about marriage. Women also have their pet peeves against the holy estate and perhaps the greatest of these is their husbands taking them for granted.

Although she has never seen it happen, every girl still cherishes the deathless hope that no matter what other husbands are, her husband is going to be the perfect lover and spend the next 20 to 40 years in telling her how beautiful and wonderful she is, and how much he adores her. Hence when he drops all his love-making at the altar with a suddenness that jars her sweet tooth loose; when he ceases to marvel at her perfections and considers that he gives a pretty good indication of devotion by working his fingers to the bone to keep her soft and comfortable, she begins walling out that she is a poor, heart-hungry, neglected wife who has lost her husband's affections.

When women grieve over the disillusion and disappointments of marriage, what they really mean is that they thought that marriage was going to be a perpetual petting party in which they would play the star roles as glamorous lady loves. When they found out that the wedding ended the romance and that they had to live on plain bread and butter instead of angel's food, they couldn't take it. They lost their taste for marriage.

Another thing that women dislike about marriage is that they can't be both bond and free. Whenever two or three women are gathered together the burden of their lament is how they are tied down to their husbands and their homes and their children. Husbands are so unreasonable about expecting their wives to be on the spot when they come home in the evening, and have good dinners prepared for them.

Babies will cry for their bottles and you simply can't fill growing children up with food and be done with it. You are always having to do it over again. You must sweep the floors and make the beds that you have just got through sweeping and making. This interferes with their bridge and their gadding and cramps their styles generally. What they would like would be a home on wheels that would automatically run itself somehow, and a family that you could put on or leave off as convenient.

Still another grievance that women have against marriage is the monotony of housework. Most of them find it a domestic treadmill that is well high intolerable. They get so tired of washing the baby's face, getting the children off to school, cooking the breakfast cereal, going to market, cleaning and scrubbing and doing the same old tasks in the same old way that they scream about it.

Nearly all women nowadays have been in business before they married and they miss the excitement of dressing up in the morning, going down to the office or shop, working in groups, the constant come and go of people, and they are so bored by domesticity that a lot of them throw it up and go back to their old jobs. They don't even find out that making a home can be the most interesting and profitable career a woman can follow.

Another thing women don't like about marriage is that it makes them financially dependent upon their husbands. For a lucky few that is grand graft, but for most women it is a combination of jimmying open a burglar-proof safe and rattling a tin cup. Nothing else makes a woman see so red as to have to ask her husband for every cent of the money she has earned ten times over by her services, and have him ask her what she is going to do with it. Particularly does this go against the grain of the modern girl who has had her own pay envelope every week and known one of the greatest of all human joys, which is toting your own pocketbook.

But perhaps the thing that women dislike most of all about marriage is the endless work they have to do to hold a husband after they get him. It grouches them that husbands won't stay put unless their wives are always keeping their eyes upon them, and that wives have to keep themselves in fighting trim to meet all competition from newcomers. They can't just sit down and take marriage easy as men do. They have to be up and doing, keeping themselves thin and young, entertaining and amusing, or else they find themselves deserted and divorced.

There are plenty of things women don't like about marriage, but with all its drawbacks it is still their best bet and they all want to take a chance at it.

DOROTHY DIX.

economic difficulties. Marriages will be numerous and the birth-rate will rise in coming months.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of mixed conditions which bring good fortune that may be affected by intrigues due to envy.

Children born on this day probably will be sturdy and independent. Subjects of this sign usually are fortunate in attaining their ambitions.

Andrew Jackson, President of the United States, was born on this day 1787. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Dame Midge Kendall, famous actress, 1849.

Coast Ship Rescues Storm-tossed Crew

Ss. Princess Victoria Takes Five Men Who Drifted in Gulf For 16 Hours

VANCOUVER (CP)—Five Vancouver men who drifted more than 16 hours in a storm-tossed gasboat were picked up by the Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Victoria today off the mouth of Nanaimo harbor.

The men were: R. Carter, N. Beaman, Gordon Smith, Tom Dingle and his son, John Dingle. They left here yesterday morning for Valdez Island in the Gulf of Georgia, aboard a 30-foot packer, bearing license number 2,001.

Near Portlier Pass the launch blew a cylinder head yesterday afternoon as she pounded through waves rising in the face of a strong southeast gale. Several futile attempts were made to fix the motor.

As night fell the storm increased. The men took turns at the pumps while the storm blew their small craft from Portlier Pass to a point about five miles off Entrance Island near Nanaimo.

The Princess Victoria left Nanaimo at 7:45 a.m. today, and when she drew near she was flagged down. The C.P.R. vessel swung on the windward side of the motorboat, and the men were taken aboard through a freight door.

British Columbia police were dispatched from Nanaimo to pick up the drifting launch.

"We were going to buy that boat," one of the rescued men said on arrival here. "Now I guess we won't."

The men said they did not know the name of the packer's owner. They were on a trial spin when the engine gave out.

Luxurious Ship's Furnishings Sold

ROSYTH, Scotland—Decorations and furnishings of the once proud liner Leviathan, formerly the Vaterland, flagship of the German merchant marine before the war, went on the auction block today. For 10 days her panelings and paintings and other superficial trappings will be sold. Then the skeleton remaining will be broken up for scrap.

Among the offerings will be seventeenth century paintings by Gerard de Lairese and oak panelings in the eighteenth century German style from the walk of her Grand Salon.

The final day's offerings will include the lifeboats, bells, searchlights and bridge equipment. The letters of the ship's name on the bows will be sold separately.

City motorists drive further during the year than rural car owners do.

Around the Docks

Equipment that raised Ss. Beulah from the bottom off Ogden Point was stored in the holds of Ss. Salvage King this morning. Early this afternoon the salvage vessel, which had been at the Outer Docks for two months, returned to her base in the Inner Harbor.

Meanwhile the Beulah was idle alongside her dock. Longshoremen commenced to discharge her cargo, but received orders to quit work, pending a conference of underwriters, insurance surveyors and other interested parties.

It was said this morning there was a possibility the ship would not be repaired.

Word has been received here the big Japanese passenger liner Asama Maru, which was blown ashore during a typhoon at Hongkong last September, has been refloated and will be repaired to resume trans-Pacific service, between the Orient and California ports.

Experts on both sides of the Pacific consider the floating of the Asama a notable salvage feat. Thousands of Chinese coolies dug a channel to the stranded vessel and had it ready when the season of high tides arrived. Parts of the ship's machinery and engines were taken out during salvage operations. The big liner was aground in Junk Bay, at the narrow entrance to Hongkong harbor.

This week will see three big trans-Pacific passenger liners, as well as the usual number of freight ships, at the Outer Docks. On Wednesday Ss. Niagara will sail for Honolulu, Suva, Auckland and Sydney; Ss. President Grant of the American Mail Line will reach Victoria at 8 Wednesday evening from the Orient, 12 hours ahead of schedule, and on Saturday Ss. Empress of Asia will depart for the Orient.

Ss. Princess Kathleen went into the Dominion Government drydock in Esquimalt Harbor for annual overhaul by Yarrow's Limited this morning. On Wednesday she will go on to the Victoria-Vancouver night run, relieving Ss. Princess Elizabeth, which will lay up in Victoria for spring cleaning.

This morning Princess Victoria spick and span after a month's overhaul, relieved Princess Elaine, which has come to Victoria to remain idle a month at the Belleville Street docks.

A $250,000 ocean pleasure cruiser is building at the Lake Union Drydock and Machine Works in Seattle for Capt. Fred E. Lewis, from designs from Ted Geary, well-known Pacific Coast naval architect.

The new ship will be 134 feet in length and will be christened Stranger—the seventh Stranger built for Capt. Lewis. Special equipment will include automatic steering gear, a fathometer, refrigeration and an evaporator to change salt water to fresh.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are now cruising Caribbean waters aboard Vincent Astor's yacht Nourmahal. They will arrive in Seattle in June, to remain until Stranger is launched.
